

Open Position: Lab Technician (20 h/week)

The Research Group *Senescence in Tissue Regeneration, led by Dr. Mikolaj Ogrodnik, is seeking to hire a part time (20 hours/week) Lab Technician. Using methods of molecular histology and animal physiology, the lab is researching a wide range of tissue damage responses, especially in relation to regeneration, healing, cellular senescence and aging.

More information about the group's research profile can be found here:

<https://pubmed.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/collections/64357035/>

The research group is part of the Ludwig Boltzmann Institute for Traumatology (LBI Trauma), the Research Center in Cooperation with AUVA. It is located at "Traumazentrum Wien - Standort Lorenz Böhler", Vienna.

Main tasks:

- Assistance in experiments in situ and in pre-clinical models;
- Lab management and maintenance of the rodent colony;
- Maintenance of the lab and tissue culture;

Your Profile (Essential):

- Professional approach to experimental biology;
- Degree in biology and/or medical sciences;
- Good oral and written communication skills in English;
- Native-level speaking and writing in German;

Your Profile (Desirable):

- Experience in histology and/or animal physiology;
- Experience in microscopy;
- Experience in handling mice and/or other rodents;

Terms of employment

This position is an exciting opportunity to advance your career in a dynamic environment. We offer a 3-year contract, including a one-month probation period, starting January 1st, 2025 or as soon as possible. The contract can be optionally extended based on the current funding of the lab. The offered gross monthly salary is EUR 1.344 (20h/week; 14x per year). Five weeks of paid vacation time are included.

Application

Applications must be submitted by e-mail to Dr. Mikolaj Ogrodnik at mikolaj.ogrodnik@lbg.ac.at and must include a letter of motivation, as well as an academic CV. In addition, name and contact details of 1-2 references must be submitted.

The application deadline is September 13, 2024, 08:00 CET.

We look forward to receiving your application and getting to know you personally!